With a career beginning at the NIH National Institute of Allergies and Infectious Diseases in 2003, CIO Mike Tartakovksy said the desire to share knowledge and collaborate among researchers, federal agencies and private partners is higher now than he’s ever seen before. Tartakovksy discusses various biomedical resources and technological efforts the agency has launched to help researchers access and share COVID-19 and infectious disease data during this time.