

Department of Energy Optimizes Cyberdisaster Readiness

Assistant Secretary Evans speaks with Cybercast about the next generation of secure energy systems

Staff Writer

Wed, 10/31/2018 - 15:29

Energy.gov

Karen Evans, the Department of Energy's first Assistant Secretary for Cybersecurity, joined Todt and Cressey to discuss her greatest cyber fears.

They also touched on government's coordination with industry on energy safety, and the role of DoE in responding to cyber and natural disasters.

Finally, the role of the national labs in building the next generation of secure energy systems was among some of the salient topics covered.

View PDF

cybersecurity

podcast

Energy Department